

Eisenhower 'Humbly' Accepts Nomination By GOP

Ike Terms GOP 'Party Of Future'

COW PALACE, San Francisco, Aug. 23 (AP) — President Eisenhower "humbly but confidently" accepted the Republican presidential nomination tonight with a promise to strive with the GOP toward the "dream of a brave and shining new world."

"The Republican party," Eisenhower declared, "is the party of the future."

Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon came before the final session of the Republican centennial convention to accept their nominations for second terms. Republicans roared out unanimous approval of the ticket last night.

These were the men, Eisenhower and Nixon, with whom the GOP marched out of the shadows and on to victory four years ago. And these are the men on whom it is pinning confident hopes of a second-term victory in November.

For each of them, convention delegates poured out their applause and acclaim.

And, with their acceptances, with a song and a prayer, the 100th anniversary convention of the Republicans came to an end.

Finish

Eisenhower finished his own address and then said he had an announcement: songwriter Irving Berlin was going to lead the assembly in "God Bless America." Ike and Mamie Eisenhower sang every word. And midway along, they turned toward one another and exchanged a long, happy smile.

Afterward, the President kicked aside a batch of balloons strewn around the convention rostrum, planted a hearty kiss on the mouths of his sisters-in-law and daughter-in-law, and thrust out a hand toward his brothers and his son.

Eisenhower's acceptance address was keyed into his first-record which the GOP claims has meant peace and prosperity now and prospects of an even more glowing future.

Eisenhower's prepared acceptance address was keyed into a first-term record the GOP claims has meant peace and prosperity now and prospects of an even more glowing future.

New Era

The President said that "out of our time there, with incessant work and with God's help, emerge a new era of good life, good will and good hope for all men."

Without hinting at the type of campaign he intends to put on, Eisenhower told the convention: "I pledge you my best efforts to bring victory to our cause next November."

The President omitted any stinging, partisan barbs at the opposition line-up of Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver. He did take a few mild digs at the farm Democrats and labor disputes. And he said that "their obsession with depression still blinds many of these critics to the insistent demands of today."

But in the main it was an address pitched to a high philosophical plane—one that could have served as well for an inaugural speech or a State of the Union message to Congress.

"With roaring acclaim from the crowd in this all but full auditorium, Nixon accepted his own nomination with a pledge to 'carry the magnificent record of this administration to every corner of this land.'"

He said no one could be more highly honored than to be the running mate of a man he called "a living symbol of peace and freedom" to millions of the world's people.

Nixon took the center of the convention stage in advance of Eisenhower's own appearance. And he sounded a note similar to the President's.

Five Reasons

The President listed five reasons why he said the GOP is the party of the future:

It is a party of "long - range principle, not short - term expediency."

It concentrates on "facts and issues of today and tomorrow" rather than those of the past.

It "draws people together, not drives them apart," as the "rallying point for Americans of all callings, races and incomes."

It is the party through which "thousands of things still to be done" will be done soonest.

It is a party which "must be completely dedicated to peace, as indeed must all Americans. For without peace there is no future."

The President already is looking toward the political campaign ahead. He leaped today into the battle to put the GOP back in control of Congress.

Teachers' Union Opposes System

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23 (AP) — The AFL-CIO American Federal of Teachers today voiced opposition to the merit rating system of pay for school teachers.

Instead, the 39th annual convention reaffirmed its support of the single salary principle with increases based on training and experience.

Rival Plans Clash In Suez Crisis

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP) — The United States and 17 other nations agreed today to speed five diplomats to Cairo to try bringing Egypt into a world system insuring international access to the Suez Canal.

But as a fateful 22-nation conference on the future of the 103-mile world trade lifeline ended, the Soviet Union and India, backed by two other nations, produced a rival plan that would leave final say on operation and control wholly in Egyptian hands.

The Soviet Union warned that any attempt to enforce the 18-nation proposal might touch off a major war.

Seizure

Nasser touched off the Suez crisis July 26 by decreeing seizure and nationalization of the international owned and operated Suez Canal Co.

These were the rival plans:

1. Eighteen nations, among them the United States, Britain and France, want the canal controlled by an international authority including Egypt as an equal member. The authority would be associated with the United Nations. It would pay due regard to Egypt's sovereign rights while ensuring "a definite system designed to guarantee at all times, and for all powers, the free use of the Suez maritime Canal."

2. The four dissenters—the Soviet Union, Ceylon, Indonesia and India—proposed an international canal authority charged only with "advisory, consultative and liaison functions." Under this plan, final say on running the canal would be left to Egypt's government.

Captures Drill Crown

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 23 (AP) — A nine-man drill squad from Girard, Erie County, today won the 28th Pennsylvania National Guard division drill championships.

Nixon took the center of the convention stage in advance of Eisenhower's own appearance. And he sounded a note similar to the President's.

Two of America's top labor leaders yesterday said flatly that the combined AFL-CIO should not endorse either party in the race for the presidency.

They were Dave Beck, president of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Maurice Hutchinson, head of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters.

Beck and Hutchinson made their comments to this reporter at a "break" in a "four-way pact" conference held in the Penn-Stroud Hotel, Stroudsburg.

The statement came on the eve of the annual executive board conference of the AFL-CIO at Unity House, Forest Park. That meeting starts on Sunday.

Walter Reuther, vice president of the combined union and head of the United Auto Workers, is known to favor an outright endorsement by the AFL-CIO of the Democratic ticket in the coming election. Reuther has been an ardent Stevenson supporter. He was one of the prime movers in the battle for the nomination at Chicago.

Reuther's position of power was made completely unassailable by the number of delegates he was said to "control" at the convention. The number was set at "200 or more" by reporters on the scene.

United States Enlists Help Of Britain In Plane Search

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP) — The United States today enlisted the aid of the British government in its far-ranging search for information on the fate of a Navy patrol plane presumed shot down after being attacked off the Red China coast.

The State Department disclosed it has asked Britain to find out whether Peiping has any information on the plane and its 16 crewmen—objects of an intensive air-sea hunt in the waters north of Formosa.

The United States doesn't recognize the Red China government and maintains no formal diplomatic relations with it.

Even as the State Department said this new move, Red China volunteered some information. A Peiping broadcast said one of its planes damaged a "Chiang Kai-shek" aircraft over islands south-east of Shanghai yesterday.

In reporting this today, the U.S. Census Bureau also said:

The 15 per cent rise in state tax revenue in fiscal 1956 was more than three times the gain in the 1955 fiscal year over 1954. Previous record jumps of more than one billion dollars were rung up in fiscal 1948 and 1951.

Levies

Sales taxes and levies on gross receipts were the biggest money raisers for the states. These levies accounted for $7,79,000,000, or more than half of the total. The income from them rose 13.3 per cent above fiscal 1955 and they amounted to $47.60 per man, woman and child.

Beyond referring to Chiang, the leader of the Chinese Nationalists, the broadcast did not identify the plane it claimed had intruded over its territory.

A Navy announcement said the U. S. plane was over international waters 32 miles off Red China's shore and 160 miles north of Formosa.

As the State Department moved to approach Peiping through the British, sterner action was demanded by Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.), a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

"Diplomatic action should be taken at once to protest the shooting down of this plane," Mansfield said in a telegram to Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr.

Sen. James H. Duff of Pennsylvania today joined a group of senators seeking re-election in a meeting with President Eisenhower prior to the President's speech at the Cow Palace accepting renomination by the Republican National Convention.

"He was in exuberant good humor and looked wonderful," Duff said.

States Gather Record Total Of Taxes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23 (AP) — The states gathered an all-time high of $13,335,000,000 in taxes last fiscal year, a record increase of $1,738,000,000 over the previous year. The cost per person averaged $81.60 during the year ended last June 30, $9.35 more than in fiscal 1955.

In reporting this today, the U.S. Census Bureau also said:

The 15 per cent rise in state tax revenue in fiscal 1956 was more than three times the gain in the 1955 fiscal year over 1954. Previous record jumps of more than one billion dollars were rung up in fiscal 1948 and 1951.

Leader Lists Boost In Relief Grants

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23 (AP) — Gov. Leader today made public a $400,000 a month boost in relief grants starting next Oct. 1.

All of the increase would be added to food allowances. A single person will get an additional $3 a month. A family of four will receive $5.60 a month more.

"We think this is a very fine thing," Leader told his news conference. "We are quite concerned with the fact that our public assistance standards are too low in Pennsylvania and will still be too low."

The increase, approved by the state Board of Public Assistance Tuesday, is the result of increased federal grants which have been running about 4½ million dollars a month.

Relief Rolls

Some 250,000 persons on relief rolls will benefit from the new boost. Blind individuals won't be affected. They get a pension.

The statewide average maximum monthly assistance allowance for a single person now runs $60.80 of which $23.20 is for food. Under the new plan, the food allowance will go up to $26.20.

A parent and three children all 5 or over now receives $146.20 a month. The Oct. 1 increase will send that family's food allowance to $80 instead of the $74.40 it now receives.

Other news conference highlights:

Turnpike — The governor said there was no plan to transfer patronage from the Turnpike Commission to the Highways Department under a ruling that the department must maintain the super-highway.

Atty. Gen. Cohen recently issued such a ruling which had been interpreted by Republicans as meaning that the 500 turnpike maintenance workers would go to the Highways Department.

Asked if he concurred with the GOP belief, Leader said: "It hadn't been my thought. It's simply a case of meeting legal requirements."

Milk control — Current hearings to bring federal milk control to the Philadelphia milk shed, said Leader, amounted to "a gigantic fraud" on the farmers of Pennsylvania.

"They cannot result in helping the consumers," he added. "They can result only in hurting the producers."

Slatington Entry Wins

UNIVERSITY PARK, Aug. 23 (AP) — David E. Semmel, Slatington RD1, today won the state level land plowing contest at the farm grounds of Pennsylvania State University.

Ohio Willing To Seek Part Of 'Shortway'

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 23 (AP) — The Ohio Highway Department today said it is willing to seek inclusion of a 12-mile Ohio extension of a proposed Shortway Route between Stroudsburg and Sharon, Pa., in the federal interstate highway system.

Deputy director John J. Heier said, however, Ohio is willing to go along with inclusion of the extension "only if it comes out of Pennsylvania's share" of a proposed 1,000-mile addition to the federal interstate system.

Ohio, Heier said, is seeking to have 100 miles of U. S. 21 in Ohio added to the interstate system "and that is all we can expect."

The deputy director said the extension of the Pennsylvania Shortway Route probably would hook up with both routes 18 and 7 in the Youngstown vicinity. Both are on the interstate system.

Heier added the inclusion of the Ohio extension of the Shortway Route "would be a rather academic thing because the money Congress appropriated for the interstate system may not be used on mileage added to the system."

Nixon 'Honored' At Choice To Run On Republican Ticket

COW PALACE, San Francisco, Aug. 23 (AP) — Vice President Nixon accepted the Republicans' nomination for a second term tonight, declaring he was "honored and privileged" to share with the delegates "one of the great moments in history."

Nixon said the actions of this convention "will leave an indelible mark" on the history of this country and of all mankind.

Recalling his trips to 32 countries on behalf of President Eisenhower, Nixon said Eisenhower is regarded throughout the free world as a living symbol of peace.

Manuscript

Speaking from a manuscript to which he put the finishing touches just before leaving his hotel for this mammoth cow barn, Nixon said "the nation is most fortunate that we shall have" Eisenhower's wise and enlightened leadership for four more years.

"And that we shall have," he added with emphasis, Describing Eisenhower's presidency as a great one, Nixon said:

"I accept the nomination in that spirit." He added a pledge that he would carry the message of the Eisenhower administration "to every corner of this land."

To the extent that physical limitation of time and space will permit, Nixon said, "I will carry this message throughout the land to assure 'a greater victory in 1956.'"

Another Nixon prediction: A Republican Congress.

What is the greatness and nobility of America? Nixon asked. Freedom, he said, that goes all the way back to Valley Forge.

It also goes back, Nixon continued, to the Bill of Rights.

That same love of freedom, he said, allows us to sacrifice, so that communism will not triumph. Nixon said the religious theme also runs through America. "We do not idly say," Nixon said, "in God we trust."

Here Nixon turned to what he called the sense of vision. It's this sense of vision, he said, that attracts the American people to President Eisenhower.

"We are a people who challenge the unknown," Nixon said, "and often achieve what seems to be impossible."

Americans, he went on, are never content with achievements of the past: "Good enough is not good enough for us."

Mrs. Weinberger stepped into the house for a few moments. When she returned, the baby was gone. There was a handwritten note that read:

"I hate to do this to you, but I am in great trouble. Don't notify the police. I am not asking for a lot of money, only what I need, and I am very serious about this."

There followed instructions on where to leave $2,000 in small ransom bills the next morning.

The note was signed, "Your Baby Sitter."

Taxi Driver Confesses To Child's Murder

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 23 (AP) — A 31-year-old taxi cab driver was arrested today as the kidnaper of little Peter Weinberger. Police quoted him as saying he killed the child and buried the body a day after he seized him.

Police headquarters said the grave has been located on Manetta Hill Road in nearby Plainview, N. Y.

A police guard was thrown about the site. The grave was not disturbed by the police lest clues be obliterated. It was planned to open it tomorrow.

Under arrest was Angelo J. Lamacra, the father of two small children of his own.

He was routed out of bed at his Plainview home at 2:30 a.m. EDT today when a police officer and an FBI man came to check on the similarity of his handwriting to that on the ransom note.

Police headquarters quoted him as admitting the kidnapping after considerable questioning. He was taken to FBI headquarters in New York today and tonight was returned to Nassau County headquarters here.

He told officers he did not know the Weinberger family. Lamacra is a stocky man of medium height, with black hair and a small moustache. He is married and has two children of his own, 8 and 10 years old. The FBI said he has a record as a bootlegger.

Police said they were led to him by a check of handwriting based on the ransom note left by the kidnaper.

The note was left near Peter's empty carriage after he was snatched July 4 from the patio of his parents' brick ranch home. It demanded $2,000.

Police have revealed there was a tell-tale quirk in the handwriting of the note. They said it figured in Lamacra's arrest.

The FBI director said the newspaper Newday at Garden City, N.Y., learned of an important development in the case last night. He said they agreed to withhold publication of the information at the urging of the FBI. Hoover added:

"Newsday rendered an outstanding contribution to law enforcement in its cooperation with the FBI in withholding publication of developments leading to the arrest of the kidnaper of little Peter Weinberger."

Mrs. Beatrice Weinberger, mother of the child, told a reporter she had been informed of the break in the case. She added:

"I haven't anything to say until I find out what happened to my baby."

There was a noticeable tremor in her voice.

The Weinberger baby was the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Weinberger. The 46-year-old father is a well-to-do executive of a wholesale drug firm.

The father and his elder son, Lewis, 2½, were out for an auto ride in midafternoon of July 4. Mrs. Weinberger, 32, tiny and brown-haired, fed the baby and tucked him into his carriage on the patio of their eight-room ranch home.

Mrs. Weinberger stepped into the house for a few moments. When she returned, the baby was gone. There was a handwritten note that read:

"I hate to do this to you, but I am in great trouble. Don't notify the police. I am not asking for a lot of money, only what I need, and I am very serious about this."

State Police Should Move Barracks If Better Protection Will Result

There seems to be considerable merit in the proposal to move the State Police barracks from Fern Ridge back to Brodheads-ville.

The sub-station was moved to Fern Ridge in 1953 and the territory served by the various State Police units was re-assigned.

Residents of the West End of Monroe County and adjoining sections of Carbon County now feel their needs would be served better if the barracks were returned to Brodheads-ville or possibly Gilbert, according to a petition turned over to Col. Earl J. Henry, State Police Commissioner.

The area around Brodheads-ville is more thickly populated than around Fern Ridge, the petitioners point out, and is served by two main highways (Routes 115 and 209) while only one (Route 115) passes through Fern Ridge.

"In the past several weeks the area around Brodheads-ville has had 10 crimes of violence consisting of robberies, burglaries, breaking and entering and malicious mischief," the petition said.

The request, it was emphasized, is not meant as a reflection on the personnel of the sub-stations located at Stroudsburg, Fern Ridge or Leighton, "all of whom have co-operated in investigation and enforcement of the law."

"The presence, however, of a sub-station at Brodheads-ville did in the past and would now act as a major deterrent in the prevention of crime in that area in addition to permitting the police at the sub-station to investigate the crimes while the clues were still warm."

Col. Henry has assured Sheriff Jacob Altemose, Associate Judge Homer A. Shupp and District Attorney Detlef A. Hansen, who presented the request, that a study of the proposal will be made immediately. The people are entitled to protection and it is comforting to know that consideration is being given to their demands.

Each Party Selects Strongest Ticket For November Election Campaign

Both major political parties appear to have put their best foot forward in the selection of presidential and vice presidential candidates to carry the party banners into the November election.

Last week, the Democrats selected what observers felt were their two strongest candidates in Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver.

The Republicans followed through Wednesday night by re-affirming their faith in the team that carried them to victory in 1952—President Dwight D. Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Partisan politicians and voters had already taken sides long before the parties held their conventions in Chicago and San Francisco. Their votes will not be swayed by any amount of oratory between now and November.

It is for the support of the many millions of independent voters that this campaign will be fought. As battle lines start to take shape, it becomes evident that almost every move made by either political party will be watched closely for its possible effect on the November results.

George Sokolsky Says...

Non-Republican ADA Sought To Dump Nixon, Joined By Other Machiavellians

Every quadrennial political convention produces its share of Machiavellians, master-minds who manipulate delegations and leaders and the chemistry of democracy that is euphemistically called public opinion. Often the Machiavellians live only during one convention and are never heard of again. Sometimes, they are of sterner quality and longer life.

For instance, Colonel George Harvey, who managed the smoke-filled room that made Warren Harding the Republican candidate for President, was a distinguished editor and publisher; Colonel Edward House, who devoted himself to the career of Woodrow Wilson, was an obscure Texan until the world went to war, whereupon House became an international celebrity and a master-mind of American policy.

In the recent Democratic Convention, Senator Lyndon Johnson, it was expected, would produce a marvelous compromise between Stevenson and Harriman, but Lyndon Johnson did not produce anything, not even a successful candidate for the Vice Presidency. George Backer and Judge Sam Rosenman were the manipulators of the Harriman effort and it is astonishing that Judge Rosenman did not succeed, what with his wealth of White House experience, but the fact is that he did not.

In the Republican Convention, the Machiavellians' real effort was to dump Vice President Nixon. In this, the Machiavellian was not Harold Stassen who does not possess that type of mind, being somewhat more simple. Originally the design for dumping Nixon came from outside the Republican Party and the White House; it came from the A.D.A., the Americans for Democratic Action, which is managed by Joseph Rauh of Cincinnati and Professor Arthur Schlesinger Jr., of Harvard. Joining them in the original thinking was the Committee for an Effective Congress which is not part of the Republican apparatus although it was employed by some Republicans to destroy the effectiveness of Senator Joe McCarthy. They did not succeed, but claim success; it was the voters who in 1954 elected a Democratic Senate and left like without a committee chairmanship, which made him less effective.

Some folks in the White House, when they recognized the character of the dump Nixon campaign, thought that it was good because it might have produced Sherman Adams as Vice President. The Governor of California, Goodwin Knight, thought the campaign not bad at all because he is possessed of a public ambition to be Vice President. Harold Stassen grabbed the ball and tried to run with it, avoiding to tell the public that he wanted the Vice Presidency for himself but claiming it for Christian Herter who promptly removed himself from the picture. Governor Theodore McKeldin, of Maryland, was willing.

This was not a movement against Nixon at all. The Machiavellians believe that they can utilize certain dissenting factors in the Republican Party to split the party and thus defeat it. No one can object to the Democrats, the A.D.A. or the Committee for an Effective Congress employing such tactics; it is part of the game of politics, war and love. They might be called diversionary tactics. One is astonished that any Republicans fall for them, particularly as these are the tactics that resulted in Republican defeats again and again and again.

Ergo, the practical politicians came to Nixon's support not because they love Nixon—politicians never love anyone but the voters—but because they recognize the devastating possibilities of a split in the party in this election which, no matter what is said for publication, the men who ring doorbells know will be close. And even if Adlai Stevenson never refers to Ike's health, the debate between the Republican and Democratic doctors on the issue has done its work in developing a doubt as to whether Ike can carry the load.

So the object of the dump Nixon effort was not so much to get rid of Nixon as to get rid of Eisenhower. This is recognized by the professionals of both parties.

Albert Einstein, not much of a politician to be sure, once wrote: "... Who can doubt that Moses was a better leader of humanity than Machiavelli?" Of course, to so-called practical politicians, this is heresy, besides Einstein never was qualified to ring doorbells.

West resulted in a schedule which baffled up the TV addicts. Eastern video followers of "Matinee Theater," "Secret Storm," "The Mickey Mouse Club" and Art Linkletter got their programs back in the regular spots. This was so much velvet for the Republicans, as there are tens of thousands who will never forgive the Democrats at Chicago for dragging in politics when all they wanted to know was how the video affair came out, whether the abductors of the heroine were caught, why the hero was such a sucker for the fake phone call, etc. It is hard to imagine many women TV addicts supporting a party which for six days and nights had plunged them into a world in which no Brooklyn lady won a trip to Hawaii.

Fairly Spoken By MARGARET LATROBE Each Person Should Judge Own Education

While some keen-witted and patriotic youth might decide to become an engineer, a class of scientist agonizingly needed today, his choice of engineering might be a serious mistake. Changing Times magazine this month emphasizes the oft-told and as oft-ignored difference between interest and aptitude.

Unless he can tell a triangle (there, there—you know the kind I mean) from a rectangle, Bobby Boy better dig claims or maybe write books for a living. Engineering requires a keen sense of visualizing objects in space. For him, 3-D is built into his own optics.

Then you take arithmetic. If Junior thinks engineering as a career would be grand, yet he is unable to take a number, add three, multiply by 72 and come up quick with the answer—you know, claudgiggling isn't half as bad as some people make it out to be. Engineering insists its followers have a snappy response to geometric, algebraic and Lord knows what all "number relations" quite foreign to writers.

Bobby may be interested in engineering without being possessed of aptitude for it. And it's no good his studying up to be an editor or novelist without a very keen sensitivity (not allergy, mind you) to words. Words should fall on the writer's ear like Conrad Aiken's "bright harp-strings of another day: Against whose glistening golden cords are sung all things that birds can sing or words can say: Like a great page of music, whereto leaning even the dark trees with their cordage sing." Or anyhow, writers should have a dictionary handy.

Bobby should find out very early—from high school or college or employment office—how his interests coincide with aptitude for what seems his present choice of future work. Professor E. G. Williamson, in Students and Occupations, advises:

Don't fall for the unusual. Don't look for the perfect niche. (You will find many jobs you're capable of, within such categories as music, sales, accounting, etc.). Don't be afraid to choose. (Time's a-wasting, but keep the future flexible). Don't leap at the first sign, either. (Look around). Avoid the white-collar illusion. (Ask yourself whether the work suits you, makes you happy—not whether the neighbors approve its status). Don't be a sparkless motor. (Without ambition? You're dead. Work habits must be learned early, followed assiduously. Don't worry about perfection. (It's great to be great, but some of us can't q-u-i-t make it. "Not failure, but low aim, is crime.") Finally, the professor says, "Don't be fooled by education." Some youngsters are college material; some not. The more I look at that question, the more convinced I am that the individual knows the answer perhaps better than anyone else. For one bright young person to miss higher education seems incalculably worse than for 10 schmoos to receive (?) it.

A gentleman named Mamons, a New London, Conn., angler, has come up with the rarity of rarities, a brand-new fish story. He swears that he caught a big shark, whopped it over the head, hung it on a hoist at the dock, then posed for a picture with it for the local press.

Just as a photographer snapped his camera, the shark came back to life and snapped a bit off Mr. Mamons' hand.

Mr. Goldstein treated himself to a new hat, but his wife failed to approve of his selection. What she said, in fact, was "Moe, in that hat, you really look like a first-class idiot."

"I know," agreed Mr. Goldstein sadly, "but when the salesman jammed it on my head and led me to a mirror, I looked too stupid to argue with him."

"Count your blessings," croons Eddie Fisher, "instead of sheep." In Rochester, N. Y., Jim Spinning took Eddie's advice. It worked too. "Gave me baa-relief," says Jim.

VOLLEY BALL

Robert S. Allen Reports

Meany Almost Attended GOP National Convention

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, almost attended the GOP conclave.

His preparations to do that had gone so far that the Republican National Committee put out a press release on the time of Meany's arrival. GOP leaders were all set to make a big ado of his presence in the light of Meany's avoidance of the Democratic convention.

But at the last moment the labor chief backed out upon receiving authoritative word that there wasn't the slightest likelihood of upsetting the renomination of Vice President Nixon.

Like most other AFL-CIO leaders, Meany is strongly opposed to Nixon.

Meany was advised that Nixon's renomination was a certainty by two inside sources:

(1) Harry Finks, vice-president of the California AFL, a delegate to the Republican convention, and a strong supporter of Governor Goodwin Knight, an avowed critic of Nixon.

(2) Labor Secretary James Mitchell, personal friend of Meany and who works closely with him in their field. Mitchell arranged President Eisenhower's dedication of the handsome new AFL-CIO headquarters, several blocks from the White House, last spring. Mitchell also consulted Meany on the labor plank in the GOP platform.

Finks, after conferring with Governor Knight, telephoned Meany there wasn't a chance of blocking Nixon's renomination. Finks reported Knight had informed him that Harold Stassen's efforts had gotten nowhere and Nixon would again be the President's running mate.

This was confirmed by Secretary Mitchell when Meany phoned him.

The AFL-CIO president thereupon declared his intention not to go to the convention. Mitchell pleaded with him, but to no avail. Meany cancelled his plane and hotel reservations.

What effect this will have on next week's decision of the Executive Council is conjectural.

Council members are saying the line-up there is 25 to 3 for Stevenson and Kefauver. But they also admit there has been considerable sentiment against an office AFL-CIO endorsement in this year's presidential race. Meany is reported among those favoring a hands-off attitude—in contrast, to Walter Reuther's vigorous support of the Democrats.

Whether Meany's attitude will now change remains to be seen.

Conventioners to Governor Knight's bounty to the convention is eye-popping. In addition to staging a huge champagne party for more than 8,000 guests, the Californian is also giving each delegate a beautiful plate as a convention souvenir. . . . New York's Attorney General Jacob

Javits, a leading aspirant for the GOP senatorial nomination, made a statement at a meeting of the California Young Republicans that he may hear more about later. Javits implied the Supreme Court's anti-segregation decisions were largely due to the Republican Chief Justice. Following is what Javits said, "It is significant and can well be a source of pride for all Californians that the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, when these decisions were made, is the former great Republican Governor of this State — Earl Warren." . . . Senator Karl Mundt, S. D., doesn't think there will be an investigation of Murray Chotiner, Vice President Nixon's controversial former campaign manager, before the November election. Mundt, member of the probing committee, explains his reason for this as follows: "Senator McClellan (D., Ark., chairman) told me before leaving Washington that he would notify me during the Republican convention of the date of the committee's hearings if any would be held. He also thought they should be held in September. I haven't heard from him, so I take it that he doesn't intend to hold any hearings until after the election."

The Republican convention has to face the civil rights music, too. Selections from "South Unpacified."

Prosperity will be a major theme of the Republican platform. For instance, two definitions of "caddie."

With the "in" party, the platform conforms to the wishes of the candidate, Or, "I'm Like Ike."

The platform the Democrats spoke on was built to give several different views. So is the one they're running on.

There's one thing that distinguishes a platform. Air under it.

Another thing about a platform. It's half-brother to a shelf.

The Democrats learned the ABC of a televised convention. If they ever get a chance they'll tackle the CBS.

The Once Over

The Convention and TV. This corner thinks neither party staged a TV hit, but that the GOP picked up a lot of votes through the presidential campaign. The use of colorful celebrities in the entertainment world, and a refusal to blame the opposition for Khrushchev's rowdy at the parties, the chinch bug, Premier Nasser's hysterics and lunch-room coffee. It was smart to condense and jazz up the convention. After all a good many voters are more influenced by

Ethel Merman than Sam Rayburn and there are voting groups that will always go for Jimmy Stewart. Patrice Munsel and Irene Dunne and Irving Berlin music over Harry Truman as a convention attraction. We think Irving Berlin and his songs hold a high place in the hearts of the general public and that the whole Nixon-Stassen dispute could have been compromised by putting him on the ticket. This could have meant victory on the strength of "White Christmas." "Alexander's Rag Time Band" and "All Alone By The Telephone." The Republicans, however, lost some support through confusing the public on the simple question, "What time is it?" The three hours time difference between the East and

West resulted in a schedule which baffled up the TV addicts. Eastern video followers of "Matinee Theater," "Secret Storm," "The Mickey Mouse Club" and Art Linkletter got their programs back in the regular spots. 39th Annual Greene-Dreher-Sterling Fair Launches Session

Judging Of Exhibits Set This Morning

NEWFOUNDLAND — The 39th annual Greene-Dreher-Sterling Fair opened yesterday. Officials estimated that 10,000 persons will see the exhibit in the three days its runs.

There were a total of 1,223 exhibits in the show at deadline time yesterday. The total is nearly 400 less than that for 1954, the last year the fair was held.

But officials said that the decrease was due to two primary factors: (1) the drastic cut-down in agricultural activity due to the 1955 flood in the area and (2) lower productivity due to poor growing conditions this summer.

Among the entries were the following total exhibits:

Cattle, 8; vocational cattle, 3; sheep, 1; vocational sheep, 2; swine, 5; farm crops, 300; vocational farm crops, 31; poultry, 53; vocational poultry, 4; junior department (10 to 14 years), 14; home economics department (14 to 18), 12 entries; needlework, 126; baked goods, 187; horticulture, 234; canned goods, 75; frozen foods, 50; jellies, jams and preserves, 128.

Judging in each event will begin this morning. Doors to the exhibit halls will be closed until 1 p.m. when judging is completed and winning entries are announced. No admission is charged for the fair.

A square dance highlighted the fair last night. Tonight at 8 the local high school band, a 75-piece organization, will play a concert. The public is invited to attend.

There is no admission charge and no parking charge.

New Office At Depot

COMMANDING general of the Army Signal Supply yesterday announced a reorganization of the packaging branch and establishment of a packaging standards office at Tobyhanna Signal Depot.

In an advisory to Rep. Francis E. Walter, (D, 15th District), the officer said a field office will be established at Fort Monmouth, N. J.

He advised Walter the move will save some $250,000 annually in costs of storage and shipping.

Newark Youth Faces Charge

COMMUNITY-MINDED CITIZENS—Even though they live far away from this area—are children at Blue Mountain Camps. This week they staged a carnival, came through with check for $106 made payable to Monroe County Community Chest. In photo, Susan Rockower, Elkins Park, Pa., represents girls camp; Martha Escoll, one of the owners and directors; Richard Brown, Queens, New York; Leon Koster, camp chairman for Chest; Hank Mory, field director.

Blue Mountain Camp Adds To Community Chest Total

By Leonard Randolph

HELPING a child learn respect for humanity is as much a part of the Summer camp's job as it is that of the school or the church or the community.

With that fundamental piece of philosophy in mind, a group of men and women who guide the destinies of hundreds of children each year at Blue Mountain Camps near Stroudsburg have built a substantial record over the past 36 years.

The latest indication of their success came this week. It took the form of a "carnival," supervised by the "senior boys camp" and their counselors and patronized by the younger boys and the "girls camp" from across the lake. It was for a worthy cause. It's that way every year at Blue Mountain, according to the older men and women who serve as guides for the children who come there.

This time — as has been the case in most recent years — the "worthy cause" turned out to be the Monroe County Community Chest drive. During recent years the boys and girls at the camp have donated hundreds of dollars to Chest campaigns locally.

Carnival

When this week's carnival was over, Blue Mountain boys and girls had donated a total of $106. Yesterday, a committee turned the money over to Leon Koster, chairman of the camp sub-division for resorts in the local Chest drive.

Koster accepted the $106 check with "thanks on the part of the whole community". He also commended the children for their understanding of the needs of Chest agencies and for their belief in the service done by those groups.

The man whose hand guides Blue Mountain more than any other single individual is a dark-eyed, intensely talkative gentleman named Max Escoll. He's one of the world's "biggest persuaders" when he's on a subject he likes. And his favorite subjects are Blue Mountain Camps, the Pocono Mountains — and kids, roughly in that order.

Escoll is most vehement when he starts on the subject of "The Poconos." There's no place in America, he says to anyone who'll listen, with "cleaner, better air"; there's no place in the world better for a Summer camp; and nobody — but nobody — can "over-sell" the Poconos.

In 36 years, Escoll says, he hasn't changed his mind a bit about these mountains. And he thinks none of his past campers have changed their minds, either.

Witness, for example, the 55 children who are staying at the camp this Summer who are "second generation" children. And what does that mean?

Well it means that 55 of the young souls whose bodies are now being washed by clean air and whose minds are being revitalized by the pastoral surroundings of woods, damp ferns and morning dew come from the families of men or women who "vacationed" at the camp years ago. Escoll is looking forward to the day when he can point to a "third generation" group.

And, among the other "points of pride" this year, Escoll can cite the influx of a group of 25 campers and five counselors from the shady (but slightly overheated) glens of Florida.

"Lots of people seem to think the camp attracts children only from families in Philadelphia, New York and New Jersey," Escoll notes with a slight chuckle. "Nothing could be further from (Please turn to page six)

Labor Leaders Frown On Endorsement

hours after Truman's endorsement of Harriman, Reuther's prestige and power among delegates was brought into full play. He was instrumental in getting the endorsement of the Michigan delegation majority to Stevenson.

In 1952 George Meany, now president of the AFL-CIO organization, also favored endorsement by the unions of a specific ticket. This year, Meany's position has apparently wavered.

Last week, according to press reports, Meany said it was still not clear to him whether or not a large, parent organization which guides the destinies of millions of working men and women — all members of separate, smaller unions — should make a direct endorsement.

Whether Meany's position changes between that time and the opening of the board meeting at Unity House will, in large part, determine whether the Forest Park conference proceeds toward an outright endorsement or a mere expression of favor. Few observers feel that the conference will ignore the political issue.

In commenting on the question yesterday, both Beck and Hutchison said that they have no opposition to endorsements by "individual unions." They noted that, with separate endorsement, the union leader has a better opportunity to study and analyze the collective feeling of his membership.

Both men said that their unions may take a stand favoring one of the two political parties in the coming election. But Beck emphasized that such a stand would and could be taken only after careful analysis of the move by members of the union's board of directors. He indicated that this would mean, also, a "study" of the attitudes of individual members.

"I am not the Teamster's union," Beck said. "What the Union does is up to its members." During the 1952 campaign, Hutchison was the only top-level union official who came out in favor of Eisenhower. His endorsement, however, was not made on behalf of the members of his union. It was tagged, specifically, a "personal preference" at the time.

In yesterday's conference, Beck, Hutchison and other labor leaders were mainly concerned with what was termed a "four-way compact" to strengthen union positions in regard to the forthcoming multi-billion dollar Federal-State highway program.

When Monday's conference begins Beck and Hutchison will be moving into almost solid "Stevenson territory." With Reuther at the helm in most of the political sessions slated for the conference

Students Prepare Cattle For West End Fair Showing

A DEMONSTRATION SHOWING proper methods for preparation of cattle for West End Fair showing as conducted last night at the Court-right farm near Stroudsburg.

Host for the experiment was Robert Courtright, a Stroudsburg High School FFA member.

Part of the demonstration was "clipping." A boy attending was allowed to "lead" the animal in a demonstration walk.

Those at the meeting were: Stroudsburg — Courtright, Dick Flick, Gary Dotter; Pocono — Jim Frable, Ernie Altomose; Chestnut-hill — Marvin Hawk, Eugene Mackes, William and Larry Altomose; Pocono — Clifford Stroud. Other vocational agriculture teachers attending were: John Montgomery, Pocono; Frank Varney, Chestnut-hill and Albert Cross, Stroudsburg.

Stroudsburg Residents Injured

TWO Stroudsburg residents are hospitalized at Watertown, N. Y., with injuries received at 5:45 a. m. Sunday when a panel truck in which they were riding left the highway at Adams Center and ran into a tree.

Harold R. Richards Jr., 17, of 711 Scott St., driver of the truck, suffered a severe forehead laceration, along with other facial cuts. X-rays were taken Tuesday to determine whether he had suffered skull injuries. He was in fair condition.

His mother, Mrs. Anna Elizabeth Richards, received three fractures of the pelvis, a severe laceration of the right leg below the knee and a dislocated right hip. Her condition was serious, although not critical.

Traveling behind the panel truck was a station wagon occupied by Mr. Richards and the couple's daughter. The family was headed north for the Malone Fair to operate a concession.

Mr. Richards stopped and, with the aid of his daughter, removed the two from the wrecked truck. A physician was called and after he administered emergency treatment, Mrs. Richards and son were removed to the House of the Good Samaritan for further treatment.

The mother is expected to be hospitalized there some time, according to word reaching here yesterday from her husband.

State Police who investigated the accident surmised that Harold fell asleep at the wheel while driving.

and David Dubinsky as their "genial host," the AFL-CIO directors will be virtually surrounded by men who lean toward the Democratic ticket.

Dubinsky, especially, has been outspoken in his endorsement of Stevenson. During the months before the convention, Dubinsky was nearly alone in raising his voice in support of the former Illinois governor.

As head of the International Ladies Garment Workers Union, which owns and operates Unity House as a Summer resort in the Poconos, Dubinsky speaks for nearly a million workers in the eastern areas of the U. S.

EVERY LITTLE BIT COUNTS—After Blue Mountain boys and girls officially present check for $106 to Community Chest, this group of boys announced that they were giving their hard-earned Summer "savings" to the Chest, too. They earned money shining shoes at five cents per pair. Boys in photo are: Russell Friedman, Mike Mendler, Paul Schlem, Frank Rotenberg, Richard Plavin, Jay Jacoby and Lewis Weiss. Kneeling in rear are Max Escoll and his daughter Martha Escoll, directors of the camp. (Staff Photo by Randolph) the truth. This year we have children from Kentucky and from Chicago, too. We get them from all parts of the country."

Spotlight
But the spotlight this Summer, undeniably, is on two children whose home towns put them far off the beaten track geographically.

Their names are "Margolis". And they're from Caracas, Venezuela. That's a long way to come to spend the Summer.

And, chances are, when the Margolis children are back in Caracas, they will have taken with them a renewed insight into the making of responsibility in the child-turning-adult.

At a Summer camp you're more than just a "relaxer", an entertaining function, a refuge or a guide, Escoll says.

When you take a child for the Summer you accept part of the responsibility for him — including his growth as a human being, his attitudes toward his fellow man.

And this explains why, every year, the children who inhabit a small part of earth called Blue Mountain Camp, become fully and wholeheartedly a part of Monroe County — through the Community Chest.

Surplus Food Scheduled For Distribution

SURPLUS food will be distributed next Tuesday and Wednesday at Monroe County Court House.

County Commissioners said yesterday that hours of distribution on those dates will be from 10 a.m. to noon and again from 2 to 4 p.m.

The distribution center will be set up in the court house basement. Persons holding cards which show that they are receiving help from the Department of Public Assistance are eligible for the surplus commodities.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

"Osteology repeats phylogeny" used to be a useful phrase to drop into a casual conversation. Stopped it dead in its tracks, that did. It means that the evolution of the individual repeats the evolution of the race, and the reason it popped up right now was that so often I've noticed that the reverse is also true — groups reacting like individuals.

And just as the housewife prepares for special company so the Glen Brook Clubwomen prepared for their guests from Shawnee. New towels for hot-washing — colored ones, if you please, and the benches moved up from the men's toes to the women's feet, and everybody with their best Bermuda on.

It was a real gay day. And speaking of gay days, it's a good thing that Ayla Joro, the Woman's Club's guest from Finland, is blessed with health and energy, because the pace she's been setting would have downed most of us. Each hostess has crowded into her week's visit their own favorite diversions.

But then the hostesses could relax while Ayla went on the next merry-go-round. Altogether it must mount up to an intensive course in American leisure time activities. So far she's visited the Farmers, the Leisters, the Mac Dowells the Wyckoffs and this week the Sleses, with the Shinsas at Vacation Valley next on the list.

In the brief glimpse I had of her yesterday she seemed to be thriving on it all and enjoying every minute of it — including her tour of the hospital yesterday in between luncheon and dinner parties.

Dorm Duty — Rayon challis with its demure little print, is a nice choice for a warm yet light nightgown for college dorm duty. The print is pink and blue bow-knots on white and there are dainty lace ruffles at collar and sleeves. Little pearl button form the front closing. For a different air, it can be worn with a satin sash.

Boy Scouts Earn Life Award, Rank

They were honored by the congregation and their friends for the achievement.

Furniture Substitutes For Room Walls

AP Newsfeatures — Modern Homes, with their feeling of light, space and informality, have inspired a whole new philosophy of furniture design, says Harvey Probbler, designer known for his traditional approach.

Probbler believes that a good piece of furniture should have multiple uses — that it should be adaptable to practically any room in the house and even capable of acting as a room divider. Says he:

"The contemporary room should not be a stilted stage set; it should reflect the tastes and activities of the occupants."

Typical of his versatile furniture designs is a group consisting of sectional corner divans and lightweight tables which may be backed up to one side of a divan to form a division between living and dining areas. The table is the same height as the sofa back, and is accompanied by upholstered stools instead of chairs, which may be pushed underneath it.

This, points out Probbler, is a practical space-saving device for a small home or apartment. In other plans he makes use of long cabinets teamed with sectional sofas as well as partitions between various areas of a room.

Probbler started selling furniture designs to manufacturers at 16, while he was still in high school. He planned to study design at college, but never got around to it, being too busy selling his designs and later manufacturing his own furniture. He is married to a former actress and is the father of two small sons.

The Probbler home serves as a laboratory for trying out new ideas in contemporary furniture, and as a background for the family collection of modern paintings.

Hymn Sing Sunday

The Young Adult Bible Class of the Reiders Methodist Church will sponsor a hymn sing in the church at 7:45 on Sunday night to which they invite everyone interested. The brief message will be brought, by Rev. LeRoy Bernard, pastor.

About 40 attended the party which climaxed with refreshments of cake, coffee and ice cream.

Successful Revival — Reminiscent of the 1912 era, but brought nicely up to date, is this tunic dress of black wool. The tunic is quite long, almost to the hem and the frock is a good choice for the woman's figure. A black satin belt is centered by a large tailor-made bow and this detail is repeated at the hem making the tunic most effective. There is a scoop neck above the self buttoned bodice. This type of tunic dress is among the more successful revivals of the fashions of yesteryear.

Beauty Hints Helps Restore Fall Glamor

By Vivian Brown

AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor Cool Breezes are likely to bring us back to the reality of routine beauty planning and an appraisal of our fall and winter glamor quotient. It is a worrisome period for those who've gained weight, let their hair take a sun beating or neglected their skin. Along come letters seeking that magic potion that will help pretty Cinderella for fall dances.

Q: "This year I had a bad experience in the sun. Early in the season I fell just short of sun stroke, and now my skin is in various shades. How can I get my skin back to normal?"

A: "It's a good idea to wait until your tan fades to analyze your skin condition. If it looks bad, a dermatologist should be sought for treatment. Most summer tans fade quickly, as they are harder to come by than to lose. Chances are your patch-quilt skin will heal without scars."

Q: "My dyed hair is in terrible condition due to a seashore visit. Sea and sun have managed to make me look like a witch. My hair combs down in a pine cleaner effect. It is unmanageable, streaked and stringy. Is there a home treatment to improve this condition?"

A: "There are a number of good home treatments for your hair condition. Unless you are familiar with the product and follow directions carefully you may have some difficulty in rejuvenating your hair. If you can afford it, a good beauty salon should give you the kind of hair treatments you'd require. They'll be in a position to, to advise you on pointers such as when to resume your hair dyeing."

Q: "I've been going without a girle this summer and now find that my old girle doesn't fit me. I don't weigh any more now, although I look bigger."

A: "Your hips probably have spread a little due to going without your girle. If you can pry yourself into it somehow, you'll probably get your figure back into shape in no time at all. Walking at a brisk pace 15 min. or more each day is the best exercise for hips and thighs."

Hint Of Fall Calls For Hot Suppers

Cool evenings hint of fall and kindle family appetites for hot, nourishing foods such as stewed chicken with corn meal muffins.

It's a satisfying combination for the hungry, hard-working bread winner, the outdoor play conditioned children, and the busy homemaker who finds ease of preparation an added attraction.

To stew chicken, place pieces in kettle. Add 1 cup water and 1/2 teaspoon salt for each pound. Cook gently 2 1/2 to 4 hours, until thickest portions are fork tender. Prepare gravy, using the broth. Serve chicken and gravy with the muffins.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

These days when a boy says enthusiastically, "She's a livin' doll", he may or may not be talking about the girl next door. He COULD be talking about little sister's favorite toy... because these days it's incredible what dolls can do. Pete Wyckoff is the one who can really huckster his merchandise, and to hear him expound on the beauties of everything from Toodles and Tiny Tears to Miss America herself is a rare and enjoyable experience. All I can say is that if he's enthusiastic about his doll harem, it isn't without reason. Dolls are terrific, and they're certainly a far cry from the starchy china variety treasured by Great Grandma and preserved in museums.

My very favorite favorite in Pete's collection is a tall, slender blonde beauty that looks like a little girl. She has jointed knees enabling her to stand, walk, and kneel, and she's wearing a checked chintz dress in pink and white with a pert white pinafore. Right this minute you can see her in our Wyckoff window bathing a baby doll in a bathtubette.

I am past the age of playing with dolls, naturally... maybe that's why I have a distinct aversion to dolls dressed like brides or belles of the ball. I like dolls snuggled in blankets that are the size and weight of real infants. I like dolls that are of christening age, and dressed appropriately in froths and furbelows. I like dolls that walk, clinging to mother's hand. I like dolls that resemble children of eight and nine. But I would never willingly buy my little girl a doll dressed like a woman. Maybe a psychiatrist could explain this, for certainly the dolls wearing evening gowns and yards of white satin with veils are among the best sellers of the industry. Pete tells me they are prime favorites with local little girls... and so, to please us all, he has stocked a wealth of brides, and a profusion of other types.

There's no doubt in my mind that WYCKOFF'S doll department has a toy to appeal to everyone from the baby in his or her playpen, right up to the age when girls pack their dolls tenderly away and dream of their own children's enjoyment of them.

Among the most imaginative of our new crop of dollies is the Miss America line. Miss America is truly a young woman who gets around. You can see her as a charming farmette, wearing blue overalls, red shirt, straw hat and an ear of corn in her pocket. You can buy her as a nurse, with a crisp white nylon uniform, pert blue cape, and saucy cap. She comes in tulle, as regal as a princess at a ball. And you can have her as Miss America herself wearing a white evening gown, silver crown, red velvet mantle with white fur trim, and her Miss America ribbon. In a variety of sizes, colorings, and ensembles she is priced from 4.98 to 10.98.

Pete also stocks ballerinas that are forever "on their toes". One exquisite lady doll, priced at 5.50 is wearing a very sheer pink nightgown and negligee, and carrying brush and comb, while one of the Toodles dolls is dressed for skiing in a bright red suit. The largest and most stunning of the brides standing 21" tall, is swathed in yards and yards of satin and lace and carries her own miniature Bible.

Oh, we have dolls a plenty. They speak, sleep, stand, cry, and do almost every other thing that a doll could conceivably do. If a little girl were asked to make a choice, she would have a terrific task, probably one entirely beyond her ability. At least, as a mother I find it difficult to make such a selection. But now is undoubtedly the time to buy, in behalf of an overworked Santa, for now there is no great rush, but there is a peak supply. Now too, a payment of ten per cent will hold any doll until Christmas... which means that the money for even the most expensive can be paid so gradually it will never be missed. Think it over... and make your child's Christmas happy the easy Lay Away way!

Heavy Damage Results As Truck Crashes Into Building

DAMAGES estimated at several thousand dollars resulted yesterday when a gravel-laden truck went out of control as it descended the Franklin Hill Road and crashed into the Harry E. Heller frozen food establishment at N. Courtland and E. Sixth Sts., East Stroudsburg.

The driver, Thomas John Morris, 24, Mt. Bethel, escaped with leg and arm injuries. L. F. Taylor, owner of the truck, told the investigating policeman, Chief Travis Seese, he planned to take Morris to a physician to learn the full extent of injuries.

The accident happened at 9:20 a.m. Morris said his brakes gave out as he was coming down the hill. He told Seese he attempted to make a wide swing north on Courtland St. at the foot of the hill, but the heavy load the truck was carrying caused it to overturn. The truck rolled over two or three times, Seese added, and lodged partly inside the Heller building.

The front and side walls were caved in, causing heavy damage to the property as well as to equipment inside. Damage to the truck and cargo was placed at $2,000.

It was the second misfortune to befall Heller in slightly more than a year. He suffered heavy damage when his store on Washington St. was flooded in the Aug. 18-19, 1955 flood.

STROUDSBURG High School's varsity football team won't be the only grid aggregation to grace Sun Mountain Camp, Shawnee, this summer. Athletic Director Josh Cody of Temple University announced that 45 Owl gridgers have been invited to spend 10 days at the Pocono retreat prior to their opening game with Lafayette College on Sept. 29.

Newly named head Temple coach Pete Stevens will head the Philadelphia entourage which will arrive at Shawnee Sept. 8.

Incidentally, Temple basketball coach mentor Harry Litwak is one of the owners of Sun Mountain. The other business affiliates in the camp are Ben Weinstein, football coach at Abraham Lincoln High in Philadelphia and Gene Dison, Quaker City Lawyer.

Elmer Possinger, Stroudsburg motor boat racing fanatic, just missed pulling one of the biggest upsets of the water speed season when he came in second — fourth-fifth of a second — behind the winner Chris Smith, Pomeroy, Pa., at Lake George Sunday.

Possinger was the leader for 60 miles of the 88-mile Hague, N. Y. Marathon when a cowl-cum-cum-cum on his boat, forcing him to lose his substantial edge while fixing the failure. However, Elmer got the boat in working order again to pull to within a boat's length of the victor at the finish line.

More than 100 competed in the race which experts said had the closest ending in the history of the event.

Another area driver, Harold Miu, Blairtown, was fifth in the Gotham classic.

Answer to Jr. Stroudsburg — Stroudsburg High's football record last year was two wins, seven losses and one tie. East Stroudsburg High's '56 log was five wins, three setbacks and one tie.

The Mountaineers topped Pen Argyl and Statington, lost to Lehigh, Emmaus, Northampton, Whitehall, Bangor, Catasquequa, and Palmerston and tied Eastburg.

The Cavaliers defeated Wilson, Port Jervis, Bangor, Pen Argyl and Statington, were downed by Nazareth, Hellertown and Lehigh and were knotted by Stroudsburg.

Sorry for the oversight department — In our haste the other day we overlooked two East Stroudsburg football greats when we named former local schoolboys headed for colleges this fall.

The two by passed were John (Juley) Arnet and Joe Shea. Arnet will leave shortly for duty with Rip Engle's Penn State University. Nittany Lions, while Shea will report for work to Earl (Red) Blaik at the United States Military Academy at West Point, N. Y.

Both Arnet and Shea were mainstays in the line of Jack Kist's fine eleven of 1952 which compiled a nine and one record.

Allentown must be the state's mecca for softball players. At least tournament records say so. In the Keystone Amateur Softball Association's Major Classic at Allentown, two Allentown teams placed one and two in the event.

The Allentown Pioneer Club team which finished first in the recent KASA Class A Tournament here was second at the Altoona runoffs, while another Queen City team topped top honors.

Edges VFW 3-2 In Extra Inning Tilt

PEOPLES COAL was waving the second half Stroudsburg Little League pennant today, following a 3-2 extra-inning victory over Veterans of Foreign Wars at Little League Park last night.

By winning, the Coalmen moved into the playoffs for the seasonal crown when they oppose the self same Vets, first half champs, in the first of a best-of-three series starting Monday. The second game of the set is slated for Tuesday and the third, if necessary, will be played Wednesday. All contests will get underway at 6 p.m.

Donny Kitzon's no-out single in the seventh inning drove in Kresge, who had reached first on a fielder's choice play and advanced to second on a walk to Osborn, with the winning run.

VFW grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first inning with the benefit

People's got one back in the third on Kitzon's two-bagger and Johnny Ace's single.

The Coalmen knotted the score in the last regulation canto to the sixth as Ace doubled and came home on J. Muller's single.

Pugh, in relief of Jack Heckman, was tagged with the loss, while Osborn who spelled starter Kitzon, got credit for the victory.

Bangor Evens Runoffs With Johnsonville

BANGOR—Bangor evens the Bi-State League playoffs finals at one game apiece last night by defeating Johnsonville 6-2 at Memorial Park here.

The third and final game of the runoffs will be played Sunday at Johnsonville, starting at 2 p.m.

Larry Raph kept Bangor in the running last night, pitching the starters to the equalizer. Raph was touched for four hits all in the first four batters up in the game.

A two-run triple by Sal Lopiano and a two-run single by Glen Raph in a 5-tally second sparked Bangor to a lead they never relinquished. The contest was called after five frames because of darkness.

John Polisky, also a 4-hitter twirler, was the victim of the big Bangor second and suffered the loss.

Chisox Slaps Yanks Twice; Mantle Belts 43rd Home Run

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (P) — Mickey Mantle finally unloaded his 43rd home run today, but the big guy with the bat was tobacco-chewin' Nellie Fox, who squirmed seven consecutive hits through the New York Yankees as the Chicago White Sox swept a doubleheader from the American League leaders 8-3 and 6-4.

Giants Hand Chicago Cubs Double Loss

CHICAGO, Aug. 23 (P) — The New York Giants today weathered a late five-run rally by the Chicago Cubs to win an 8-5 curtailed seven-inning nightcap and sweep a doubleheader. Johnny Antonelli took the opener, 2-1, in a duel with Moose Drabowsky, a Cubs' bonus baby.

The Giants, with Max Surkont allowing one hit, had an 8-0 lead going into the seventh inning. But, the Cubs rocked Surkont for five straight hits, including a grand slam home run by Gene Baker. Windy McCall relieved Surkont as darkness set in at Wrigley Field. Then, Hoyt Wilhelm halted the Cub threat after the Chicagoans had again loaded the bases.

14 Batters
Red Schoendienst and Willie Mays had two hits each as the New Yorkers sent 14 batters to the plate in routing Warren Hacker, who lost his 12th game against two victories.

In a one-hour delayed opener, Antonelli took his 13th victory of the year as Daryl Spencer singled Jackie Brandt home with a ninth-inning single.

3-Run 8th
Three runs in the eighth put it well beyond New York's reach. Jim Rivera opened the frame with his eighth homer and Fox, after four straight singles, capped it with a two-run triple.

In the nightcap, the Sox went with veteran righthander Millard (Dixie) Howell, who at 36 was making only his second major league start. He lasted until the sixth, good enough for his fifth victory in 11 decisions.

Orioles' Moore Shuts Out Tigers
BALTIMORE, Aug. 23 (P) — Ray Moore limited the Detroit Tigers to three hits over seven innings, banged out two singles and scored twice tonight as the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Tigers 3-0. The big righthander was forced from the game after injuring his shoulder sliding into second in the seventh.

St. Paul Leaders
ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 23 (P) — Sammy Sneed, a veteran of the golfing wars, and young Bud Holshager of Apple Valley, Calif., shot six-under-par 66s today to take the six-round lead in the $20,000 St. Paul Open.

Tribe Hurlers Claim Mantle Missing Curve

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—You'd never expect Mickey Mantle to repeat the ancient riddle line, "I'll be home soon, Ma. They're starting to curve 'em now."

But Cleveland pitchers who have limited Mantle to one hit in 14 at bats during the last four games between the clubs say the trouble is that Mantle isn't hitting curves.

Mantle's current batting slump is his worst of the season. He has made only three hits in seven games previous to today's doubleheader against the White Sox. His batting average has dropped to .358 and Manager Casey Stengel, for one, has just about given up the idea that Mickey will break Babe Ruth's season home run record of 60.

Could Mean Trouble

General Manager Hank Greenberg of Cleveland figures the Yanks may be in for trouble in spite of their 8½-game lead unless Mantle starts hitting again.

"Mickey has been the man who has carried the club all season," Greenberg said. Checking the records, Greenberg pointed out that Mantle made 24 hits, 9 homers, in 73 times at bat in the first 16 games against the Indians. Since then, he nearly has been blanked.

Hank claims he doesn't know the reason for Mantle's slump, but Cleveland pitchers Early Wynn, Herb Score and Bob Lemon say their curves have been very successful against the Yankee slugger.

Going into today's games, Mantle had 42 homers and still was five games ahead of Ruth's 1927 record pace. But he hadn't hit a homer in the last eight games.

Don't Look Good

"It doesn't look so good for the kid now," Stengel said dejectedly. "I don't remember when he has looked so bad. The pitchers really are beating down on him."

"However, any day now he will start slugging again. He's too good to be stopped."

Demolition Derby At Dorney Track

ALLENTOWN — A Demolition Derby in conjunction with the regular Friday night stock car race program and then the season's one and only program of midweek auto races on Sunday night is the double-barreled speed program arranged for this weekend on the fifth of a mile asphalt track at Dorney Park here.

There will be the usual three 10-lap qualifying heats, two 12-lap semi-finals, 25-lap feature and a 15-lap event for non-V8 cars in addition to the Demolition Derby tomorrow night. There will be at least six entries, maybe ten, in the Derby, with each crashing and smashing each other until only one, the winner, is left.

Max Surkont

Dave Pope

THEY'RE BACK IN THE MAJORS AGAIN—Two former major leaguers, pitcher Max Surkont and outfielder Dave Pope are now back in the big time. The Giants purchased Surkont from San Francisco and the Indians brought up Pope from Indianapolis while optioning catcher Earl Averill to that club. Surkont formerly was with the Braves and Pirates and Pope with the Indians and Orioles.

Smith Risks Lightweight Title Against Brown In Video Bout

By ED TUNSTALL

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 23 (AP)—Wallace (Bud) Smith risks his lightweight title for the second time in his short tenure as champion welterweight king Tony DeMarco and dropped decisions to Larry Boardman and Brown.

Smith's seven-year professional record lists 33 victories, 14 losses and 5 draws. His triumphs include 18 knockouts. Brown, who has shuffled in and out of the division's top 10 for several years and presently ranked eighth, is confident of victory. He was well on his way to a title shot in 1952 when rugged George Araujo stopped him in seven rounds. Araujo met Carter for the championship eight months later but lost on a knockout.

The 27-year-old champion is expected to enter the ring a slight favorite over the 30-year-old New Orleans challenger who beat him once this year. But the 9,200 fans expected to swarm into the Municipal Auditorium for the nationally televised (NBC, TV and radio, 9 p.m., EST) wouldn't be surprised at a Brown victory.

The promoting Louisiana Boxing Club anticipates a $60,000 gate since the New Orleans area will be blacked out on television and Brown has a chance to join Pete Herman and Tony Canzoneri as the only New Orleans fighters to win world titles.

The Cincinnati-born champion has avoided a title bout since a successful defense last October against Jimmy Carter, the man he whipped for the championship in June, 1955. In three outings this year, Smith was stopped by former welterweight king Tony DeMarco and dropped decisions to Larry Boardman and Brown.

Better Record

Although an erratic performer, Brown shows one of the division's better records with 60 victories, 14 losses and 8 draws with 21 knockouts. His principal contention for victory is the 10-round decision over Smith last May at Houston.

play-by-play accounts and Durocher will supply the color and conduct half-time interviews. Durocher has been an NBC executive since 1955.

When the New York Giants set the National League record of 221 home runs in 1947, John Mize hit 51 following by Willard Marshall's 36 and Walker Cooper's 35. Sixteen Giants hit homers that year.

Rash Of Injuries Strikes National Football Loop Clubs

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—The National Football League exhibition season rolls under a full head of steam this weekend but an unusual rash of August injuries has already put a dent in the championship hopes of several clubs.

Loss of key men for varying lengths of time were suffered by the Washington Redskins, Baltimore Colts, Pittsburgh Steelers, New York Giants, Green Bay Packers, Chicago Bears and Philadelphia Eagles.

The Redskins face the San Francisco 49ers at San Francisco Sunday without a first-line quarterback and minus halfback Vic Janowicz.

Baltimore faces Pittsburgh at Cincinnati Saturday night minus a good portion of its scoring strength. Defensive halfback and place-kicker Bert Rechichar underwent an appendectomy and star passer George Shaw was hospitalized with virus pneumonia Aug. 18.

Steelers Lose

The Steelers, for their part, will probably be without the services of their No. 1 draft choice, Art Davis, Mississippi State halfback who suffered a shoulder separation in the Cleveland Browns-College All-Stars game Aug. 10.

The New York Giants received a jolt when it was learned that Rex Boggan, 1954 All-American tackle at Mississippi, would be lost for the rest of the season and maybe forever because of painful calcium deposits in his right leg. Boggan had been counted on heavily by Coach Jim Lee Howell to bolster the Giants' forward wall. New York meets Green Bay's Packers, who are not without their share of miseries, Saturday night at Green Bay, Wis.

Packer Injury

The Packers lost one of their most promising rookies in Curt Lynch, 230-pound tackle from Alabama. Lynch was sidelined Aug. 3 by a recurrence of an old knee injury that required surgery. He later forsook his pro career for a high school coaching and teaching assignment in Wisconsin.

The Philadelphia Eagles collide with the Chicago Bears at Philadelphia Friday night, each without a veteran standby.

George Conner, a pillar in the Bears' line for years, retired as an active player because of a persisting knee ailment. He joined the Chicago coaching staff.

Dowda Out

The Eagles will be without veteran defensive linebacker Hank Dowda, lost until midseason because of an injured right knee.

Other games of the full exhibition schedule this weekend, find Cleveland at Los Angeles Friday night, and Detroit vs. the Chicago Cardinals at Mobile, Ala., Saturday night.

Wrist Injury Sends Labine To Sidelines

CINCINNATI, Aug. 23 (AP)—Clem Labine, Brooklyn's relief-pitching mainstay, was found to have a chipped bone in his right wrist today as the Dodgers headed into five of the season's most important games. He will miss most of the remaining season.

Labine was hit by a ball pitched by the Cardinals' Larry Jackson in the ninth inning of last night's game in St. Louis. X-rays today revealed the chipped bone, and the right-hander was sent back to Brooklyn with his wrist in a cast. Physicians said he probably would be unable to pitch for three or four weeks.

In Confusion

As a result, Manager Walt Alston's pitching plans for Brooklyn's three games here against the third-place Redlegs and two in Milwaukee against the league-leading Braves were thrown into confusion.

Labine's injury came just after the Dodgers apparently had obtained so much-needed pitching help with the return to form of Don Bessent. After Monday's fine relief performance, Alston had been considering using Bessent as a starter and had counted on him to help the overworked Labine as a reliever.

Since the walloping Redlegs, only one game behind Brooklyn and three behind Milwaukee, usually hit Dodger pitching rather hard, it appeared likely that both would be called upon.

Labine, who has appeared in 52 games this season, set a Brooklyn club record last night when he finished his 42nd. He has saved 16 games for the Dodgers and has a season record of nine victories and six losses.

Numbs Up

After being struck by Jackson's pitch, Labine pitched the last half of the ninth inning, yielded one run and saved a 5-3 victory for Roger Craig. After the game his wrist "numbed up" and when the Dodgers reached here today he was taken to Christ Hospital for X-ray examination.

50-Lap Event Will Highlight Nazareth Stock Races Sunday

NAZARETH—A 50-lap feature event—one of the thrilling highlights of a half-mile track—will be the star-studded stock car attraction this Sunday, 8:15 o'clock, at the Nazareth Fairgrounds.

The 50-lap feature will follow four heats of qualifying races, and competing in the extra long race card will be drivers from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Nazareth's finest field of race cars is expected to join in the fun this Sunday, and the drivers will be seeking to increase their individual point standings. Eastern's Otto Harvi remains the No. 1 leader in this division.

Two recent comets to be watched are Don Stumpf, Ridgefield Park, N. J., and Marty Ackler, Allentown. Also Hoop Schaible, Upper Black Eddy; Jack Bergstresser, Phillipsburg, and Dan Mitchell, Middletown, N. Y. These drivers have been showing increasing splendor behind the wheels of their cars.

More than 50 cars are likely to race this week, due to the challenge that is presented. Top names from northern New Jersey continue to challenge the Eastern-Phillipsburg colony of hard-bitten aces.

Dave Melton, Kansas City prospect, hit the first pitch for a home run when he played for San Francisco in 1950. He is a Stanford University graduate.
